HISTORICAL SIGNS

The historical sign in front of City Hall was unveiled at our Independence Day celebrations on June 29. This is the first large one that ESHP has provided in the City. Other old building owners will be asked to agree on the wording for their signs in October.

The Historical Sign project is funded by our Homes Tours and by generous donations from building owners. We have also installed 20 small signs for older houses.

News from the Historical Library

New books in our collection are:

Allman, Finding Florida
 Dos Passos Coggin, Walkin' Lawton
 Henderson, Sunshine Skies
 Schmelz, Journey to the Edge of Eden
 Walls, Finding Florida's Phantoms

The next time you have a clean-up, don't throw out old books, newspapers, or photos – they may be of historical interest. If you would like to give them to the Historical Library in City Hall, where they are safe from storms, phone (239) 695-2905.

Book Review

by Marya Repko

There's a different look at our state's past in Finding Florida; The True History of the Sunshine State by T. D. Allman. The author, a respected journalist who has reported from all around the world, debunks some of the "myths" that are taught in our schools and published in books.

For example, Andrew Jackson wasn't really a hero. When he invaded northern Florida before 1821, the Spanish territory was a multi-racial society. White, black, and Indian settlers had equal rights and lived together. Jackson claimed they were crossing the border into Georgia but, in fact, he was the one who violated territorial space in an attempt to annex Florida for the USA. And, Ponce de Leon did not find the "fountain of youth" in St. Augustine – that was invented as a tourist trap.

This new book, published in 2013, is available via the Collier County Public Library.

If you've read an interesting book, email us with your review.

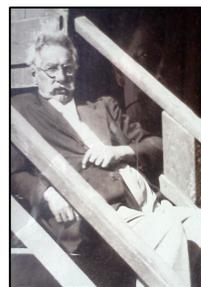

Annual Blessing of the Stone Crab Fleet

Before you know it we'll be enjoying delicious stone crab claws. The traps are dropped 10 days before the season starts on October 15.

For the 5th year the boats will be blessed by local pastors before they go out. The event was organized initially by Tod Dahlke who asked that ESHP help to focus on our history.

We invite everyone to join us at the Rod & Gun Club on Saturday, September 28, for an afternoon of family fun. The schedule for the day is:

- 1:00pm Arts & Crafts Booths open
- 1:30pm Frog-Jumping Contest for Kiddies
- 2:00pm Blessing of Boats by Local Pastors
- 2:30pm Coconut Guava Cake Contest
- 3:00pm Ted Smallwood Look-Alice Contest

A new activity this year is the Ted Smallwood Look-Alike Contest. We hope to have family members and neighbors present who remember Ted before he passed away in 1951.

For info, call Tod at (239) 260-4577 or download a poster from our website www.evergladeshistorical.org which also has a link to the FaceBook page.

WINTER 2014 EVENTS

We're beginning to plan events for the busy winter season, the highlight of which is the Everglades Homes & Gardens Tour on Saturday, March 8. We have extended it to include gardens so that householders who are proud of their plantings can talk with visitors about them.

We will also have Movie Nights with free popcorn again and at least one Historical Talk. You can download a draft calendar at our website.
